APA Style Quick Guide (7th ed.)

This guide provides examples for selected research sources based on style recommendations from the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association: The official guide to APA style (7th ed., 2020). This replaces the 6th ed. (2010).

Write your paper using one of these fonts but use a sans serif font for all graphics (APA, 2020, p. 44).
Serif: Georgia 11 Times New Roman 12
Sans serif: Arial 11 Calibri 11 Lucida 11

There are four basic components for all APA references: A. (B). C. D.
The letters represent Who? When? What? Where?
A is the author, B is the date, C is the title, and D provides source information (APA, 2020, p. 262).

The APA Style requires double-spacing between ALL text lines, including References.
To save space and paper when printed, examples in this guide have been formatted with single spacing.

TIP: See pages 3-4 for author variations, e.g., how to write an in-text citation for 3 authors, a reference for 2311 authors, or what to do when no author is listed.

APA Style Guidelines and Grammar

<https://apastyle.apa.org/style-grammar-guidelines/>

The academic community builds new knowledge, in part, by understanding what has already been written on a subject. To put new research into the context of existing research, academics provide links to previously published works. Sometimes, the citation links offer the context of the new work; at other times, the links give evidence of agreement, disagreement, or novelty. In all situations, listing your sources enables readers to find the cited information. In other words, citations are pathways between the current work and past works.

For academic writers to indicate pathways to past works, organizations and journals have created standardized formats (often referred to as style guides) for in-text citations and reference lists (or references, or works cited, or bibliography) (APA, 2020, p. 281). This Quick Guide supports APA Style by showing models of in-text citations and reference lists. Read the preliminary notes to understand rules for spacing, punctuation, block quotations, and so on. For specific content formatting (e.g., a chapter in an edited book), find the section and sub-heading modeling that material and format your reference exactly as you see it. Additional information on this style can be found in more comprehensive style guides (that are available at the bookstore, in the library, online at other universities, or at organization/journal websites). Recently, in an effort to keep up with changing media and archiving practices, some organizations have established blogs.

FORMATTING YOUR PAPER

APA style requires that you use parenthetical citations to acknowledge quotations, paraphrases, summaries, and other material from a source used in your paper. These correspond to the full bibliographic entries found in a list of references at the end of your paper. To cite a source in the text of your assignment, indicate in parentheses the last name of the author(s), or if there is no author, the first few words of the document title<sup>1</sup>, followed by the year of publication, and, if quoting, the page number(s). The next two paragraphs show some sample in-text citations, followed by the corresponding references. The APA Manual includes a 10-page sample student paper (2020, pp. 61-67) and provides two sample papers online.

In his classic study, Gardner (2004)<sup>2</sup> summarizes the scepticism of current researchers and observers about whether the messages presented in the Fourth Assessment Report were really about the end of the world as we know it. His conclusion is that “anthropogenic global warming is occurring” (p. 22)<sup>3</sup> and human activities are to blame. But four renowned researchers (Tannenbaum et al., 2005)<sup>4</sup> who re-analysed published data have rejected the likelihood of human influence on recent climate change and concluded that:

Block Quote

The current climate change is natural. The close of the millennium was marked by a deep suspicion of the natural world and an increasing reliance upon the pronouncements of soothsayers and visionaries, who caused hysteria with their doom-laden forecasts of the end of humanity. (p. 184)<sup>5</sup>

This has prompted some key influential organisations to hold non-committal positions on this issue. But in a recent publication Cooper et al. (2009) positively identified the “human fingerprints” associated with climate changes stating that “temperatures have risen compared to pre-1800 levels, and humans significantly influence the global temperature” (p. 19). Al Gore echoed this in his presentation at Dalhousie University when he concluded that “we’re in for a planetary emergency unless we change the way we live now” (personal communication, May 3, 2010).<sup>6</sup>

Hanging indent ½ inch

<sup>2</sup> In-text citations need to be within the sentence (as close to the source material as possible). The author can be separated from the year and page number; this form is called a narrative citation. (More examples of parenthetical and narrative in-text citations are in this Quick Guide, p. 4.)

<sup>3</sup> APA requires the page number(s) for direct quotations; they are optional (but very helpful) for paraphrases or summaries (APA, 2020, pp. 264, 269). If the document has no page numbers, use paragraph numbers, e.g., (“Timeline,” 2019, para. 2).

<sup>4</sup> When a source has three or more authors, use the first author's last name and "et al.," e.g., (Tannenbaum et al., 2005).

<sup>5</sup> Place direct quotations of 40 words or more in a free-standing block and omit quotation marks. Position the page number after the period.

<sup>6</sup> Personal communications, including interviews, emails, or lectures can be cited but are not included in the list of references.

<sup>8</sup> Do not change the order of the authors. The first author for this research article is Ramiro Garzon, not Cooper. So the reference is incorrect, as is the in-text citation; the citation should be Garzon et al., not Cooper et al. (Use the hyperlink to find other inaccuracies.)

<sup>9</sup> Not all journals have an issue number; in this case use the volume number only.

IN-TEXT CITATIONS AND REFERENCES

Notes	<sup>1</sup> For exactly 20 or fewer authors, list all authors and include an ampersand (&) before the last author's name. <sup>2</sup> Include the DOI if one exists, even if you read the print version of the article. <sup>3</sup> List the first 19 authors, followed by an ellipsis ( . . . ) then end with the last author. This paper has 2,311 authors! <sup>4</sup> This article appears in an online journal that numbers each article but paginates each article from page 1. When there is both an article number and a page range, only use the article number (APA, 2020, p. 294). <sup>5</sup> (ed.) indicates an edition, whereas (Ed.) is an editor and (Eds.) specifies editors (APA, 2020, p. 321). <sup>6</sup> Use this only when the author chooses to sign their writing as Anonymous. This is not the same as having no author.

When selecting your final citations and references, be sure that:

- every source that has informed your thinking is both cited and referenced (APA, 2020, p. 253).
- references in the list have at least one in-text citation (APA, 2020, p. 262).
- in-text citations flag exact locations where you relied on source materials to strengthen your written assignment.
- references describe details of the works that correspond to your citations (APA, 2020, p. 262).

In-text citations can be either parenthetical or narrative (APA, 2020, pp. 262-263, 266). The examples below show a variety of ways you can create in-text citations for quotations and paraphrases. Note that the source cited is imaginary.

QUOTATION EXAMPLES (page numbers required)
Author(s)	Parenthetical citations	Narrative citations
1 author	“Writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (Beals, 2020, p. 5). Writing is difficult because “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (Beals, 2020, p. 5).	Beals (2020) noted that “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (p. 5). In 2020, Beals noted that “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (p. 5). Writing is difficult because, as Beals (2020) noted, “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (p. 5).
2 authors	“Writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (Beals &amp; Smith, 2020, p. 5). Writing is difficult because “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (Beals &amp; Smith, 2020, p. 5).	Beals and Smith (2020) noted that “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (p. 5). Beals and Smith (2020, p. 5) noted that “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing”. Writing is difficult because, as Beals and Smith (2020) noted, “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (p. 5).
3 or more authors	“Writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (Beals et al., 2020, p. 5). Writing is difficult because “writers need clear thinking to produce clear writing” (Beals et al., 2020, p. 5).	Beals et al. PARAPHRASING EXAMPLES (page numbers not required)
1 author	To write well, an author needs a good understanding of the topic (Beals, 2020).	Beals (2020) noted that to write well an author needs a good understanding of the topic. In 2020, Beals noted that to write well an author needs a good understanding of the topic.
2 authors	To write well, an author needs a good understanding of the topic (Beals &amp; Smith, 2020).	Beals and Smith (2020) noted that to write well an author needs a good understanding of the topic. In 2020, Beals and Smith noted that to write well an author needs a good understanding of the topic.
3 or more authors	To write well, an author needs a good understanding of the topic (Beals et al., 2020). Writing is difficult because an author needs a good understanding of the topic in order to write well (Beals et al., 2020).	Beals et al. Note	There are many more ways than these examples to write your own parenthetical and narrative in-text citations.

AUTHOR VARIATIONS (APA, 2020, pp. 286-287)
Examples	Author's Name	APA Style (invert and shorten)
Simple names	James Warton Hui Teng	Warton, J. Teng, H.
Middle names or initials	Rajiv Mohan Gupta <sup>1</sup> Karolina Andersson Sundell <sup>1</sup> Juan Antonio Lopez Ferez <sup>1</sup> Simeon C. Ntafos	Gupta, R. M. Andersson Sundell, K. Lopez Ferez, J. A. Ntafos, S. C.
Hyphenated names	Abdul-Kadim Hay'awi Jo-Ann Tilton Jo-ann Bradley Lori Lee-Penney	Hay'awi, A.-K. Tilton, J.-A. Bradley, J. Lee-Penney, L.
Names with position prefix or suffix  Exceptions	Elder Shirley Williams James John Jr. Bisogni Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr. Pope Francis Dr. Seuss	Williams, S. Bisogni, J. J. Jr. King, M. L., Jr. Pope Francis. Dr. Seuss.
Celebrity names (do not change)	Beyoncé Lady Gaga	Beyoncé. Lady Gaga.
Duplicate names	Richard Richards Li Li	Richards, R. Li, L.
Retain lowercase (APA, 2020, p. 346)	Andrew Van de Ven Theo van de Ven e. e. cummings	Van de Ven, A. van de Ven, T. cummings, e. e.
Cultural knowledge required	Bin Chen (in an English journal) Chen Bin (in a Chinese journal) Qwul'sih'yah'maht/Robina Thomas	Chen, B. Chen, B. Qwul'sih'yah'maht [Thomas, R.].
Note	<sup>1</sup> Sometimes you cannot tell if the middle name is part of the given name or part of the surname. Search beyond the journal to find out how to cite an author's name, e.g., university websites.

TITLE DESCRIPTIONS (useful when items are not articles, books, or reports)
